NEW HAVEN THEATER FIRE
DEATH LIST REACHES SEVEN
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 2.—John J. Dunn, scorched in the Rialto Theater fire of Sunday night, died yesterday. His death brings the list of actual fire victims to seven.
Nine hospital patients were reported today as in extremely serious condition. Among them is Tilton E. Doolittle, of Spokane, Wash., a Yale student. His twin brother is resting easily.
So many inquiries have been made about supposed missing persons that Coroner Mix ordered a careful examination of the ruins of the theater. The ashes were sifted, but firemen and policemen found no trace of human bones.

AMPIGO RECITAL
Pleasing Morning Musicals
Given at Washington
Club.

Three Baltimore musicians were the "human" soloists, with the Knabe-Ampico reproducing piano as both soloist and accompanist, at a delightful morning musicale given at the Washington Club on Tuesday morning. The club rooms were filled and Mrs. Eugene Byrnes, temporary chairman of the music committee of the club, introduced the artists, Esther Cutchin, pianist, Mattie Leitch Jones, soprano, and Herbert Bangs, violinist.
Miss Cutchin is an Ampico artist and two of her piano solos were given, after her playing of them, on the Knabe-Ampico, that was loaned by courtesy of the Knabe Piano Company. She is a poetic player who possesses also a finely clear-cut and fluent technique, and her tone values have both color and poise.
The Ampico reproduced her interpretation of Alabieff's "The Nightingale," a composition that seems to speak with very personal freedom, pausing and changing the tempo with the whim of the player. These things were all apparent in the Ampico, that gave also her color of tone and the real restful close with absolute fidelity. In Paderecki's "Legend," also reproduced, Miss Cutchin chose the whims of the player. These things were all apparent in the Ampico, that gave also her color of tone and the real restful close with absolute fidelity. In Paderecki's "Legend," also reproduced, Miss Cutchin chose the whims of the player. These things were all apparent in the Ampico, that gave also her color of tone and the real restful close with absolute fidelity.
As soloist Miss Cutchin was delightful in "Harmonies du soir" by

List and by request the Saint-Saens "Etude in form of a waltz."
The Ampico as accompanist demands an authoritative interpretation from voice or instrument. A teacher in Washington said recently that his pupil should learn to sing an aria to such a reproduction because it prevented those easy lapses into vocal liberties that the best artists do not admit. These accompaniments have freedom for expression, room for breath, but not for privilege.
Miss Jones sang the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria," with violin obligato by Herbert Bangs, with very good effect, but she lost herself in her phrasing and all did not end happily. The tricky accompaniment of Strauss "Will o' the Wisp" was proof of the uses of these real interpretations that are often played by the composers themselves. That and Strauss' "Nightingale" brought out the good co-ordination of voice and piano.
Mr. Bangs gave Schubert's "Serenade" and Saint-Saens' "The Swan," and as "invisible" Ampico artist the reproduction of Mischke Levitski's rendition of Liszt's "Sixth Hungarian Rhapsody" completed a most revealing and interesting recital.
The Knabe-Ampico announces two other recitals, one for the evening of December 3, at 8:30, at the University Women's Club, 1607 H street, and the other at the Burlington Hotel on December 8, at 9 p. m., to be given to the house guests. The same soloists will be heard.

IS GIVEN ROYAL WELCOME
HAVRE, Dec. 2.—Premier Briand arrived home today from the Washington conference.
"I am delighted to have been able to visit the United States, but am happy to return to my native land," said the premier in answering an address of welcome by Mayor Meyer.
A special train bearing ministers, deputies and senators arrived from Paris at 9:30. The officials immediately boarded a tug which met the liner at the three-mile limit.
The party landed at noon. The premier was escorted to the municipal building by a detachment of cavalry. The streets were lined with cheering crowds and the buildings were decorated with flags.
M. Briand was guest of honor at a champagne luncheon.
